

CRS PERSPECTIVES

Number 52
January 1996

In this issue:

Report from the Interim Director	2
Mining and Environment Institute	3
Research and Publications	5
The Significance of Small Scale Mining for Developing Economies Michael Allison, Antony Berger and Henk Dahlberg	8
Transforming Artisanal Mining: Findings of a World Bank Roundtable Mamadou Barry	10
Some Environmental Concerns with Small Scale Mining David M. Chambers	13
Small Scale Mining in Asia: A Social Program or a Contribution to Sustainable Development Allen L. Clark and Jennifer Cook-Clark	15
Small Scale Mining: Some Reflections from the Perspective of a Large Company Phillip Crowson	18
Women in Small Scale Mining in Namibia Magnus Ericsson	21
Environmental Problems in Zimbabwe from Gold Panning John Hollaway	25
Small-Scale Mining: An Approach to Training and Communication James F. McDivitt	29
Importance of Technical Cooperation Programs to Small Scale Mining Sustainability Augusto Mendonça	32
Small-Scale Mining and the Corporate NGO: A New Model for Development Calvin Pride and Mark Doidge	34
New CRS Publications	37
Forthcoming From CRS	39