Ministério dos Recursos Minerais

On behalf of the Government of Mozambique, the Ministry of Mineral Resources, it is my pleasure to invite and welcome you to the Ninth Annual Communities and Artisanal and Small Scale Mining (CASM) Conference that will take place in Maputo and Chimoio from 8th - 14th September 2009.

The Conference is designed to share experiences in best practices of Artisanal and Small Scale Mining. The Small Scale Mining activities play an important role in the development of the country and it is largely carried out in rural areas by unskilled miners in business and management.

The Government recognizes the importance and the contribution of the artisanal and small scale mining in reducing the rural poverty, creating the employment, providing diverse services, developing small industries and reducing the migration of the young people from the rural areas to cities and ensuring the economy growth in the rural areas.

I look forward to welcoming all our guests in Mozambique and hope you'll be able to join us in Maputo and Chimoio and enjoy the traditional hospitality of the Mozambican citizens and wish all participants success and all the best.

Yours Sincerely,

s/Mrs Esperança Laurinda Nhiuane Bias
Minister of Mineral Resources

Artisanal and Small-scale Mining...

ASM: An Opportunity for Rural Development ?

Artisanal and Small scale Mining (ASM) is largely a poverty driven activity practiced in some of the world's poorest regions. If tapped, it has the potential to contribute significantly to social and economic development.

Artisanal and small-scale mining (ASM) is one of the most important livelihood activities in Africa. An estimated 9 million artisanal and small-scale miners are engaged in ASM activities across 45 countries of the continent. With their dependents they may number over 54 million and account for almost 6% of the population of Africa. Worldwide, these numbers are most likely in excess of 20 million ASM miners and 100 million dependents.<sup>1</sup>

Despite the actual and potential economic value of this livelihood, ASM communities are amongst the poorest, most marginalized and vulnerable members of society. All too often, ASM is associated with conflicts, corruption, civil strife, child labor, hazardous practices, disastrous impacts on the environment and civil strife. In spite of progresses during the last two decades, it is still too often illegal. The ASM communities are indeed exposed to the negative effects of successive international or regional crises, such as the present commodity prices or financial crises, conflicts or climate change.

Yet, it offers real opportunities to alleviate poverty, mostly in rural areas. The challenge facing civil society, the industry, governments and the artisanal miners themselves is to find ways to boost the economic value and livelihood potential of ASM and mitigate the often grim realities of life around the mines. There is a growing field of evidence from Latin America, mostly, but also from Asia and – yes – Africa – that ASM can become a viable trade and also contribute to local community and economic development.

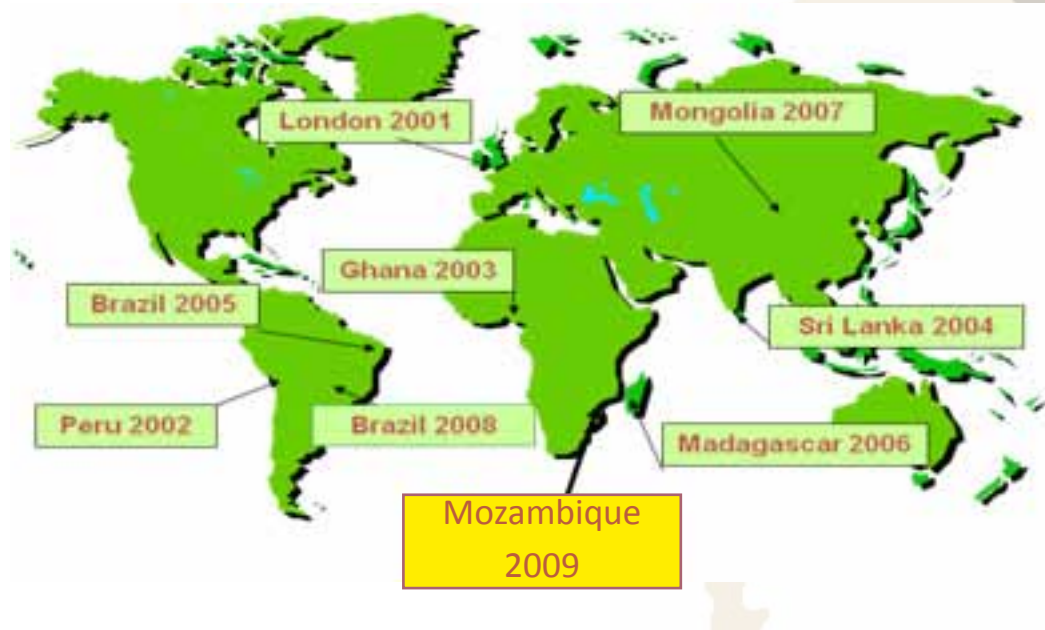

The 2009 Annual Conference on Communities and Artisanal & Small-scale Mining will highlight how sustainable solutions are emerging in Mozambique, in Africa and around the world. It will show why and how political will is important – as the Mozambique experience will illustrate – to formalize ASM and transform a hazardous activity into a viable livelihood for the artisanal miners and the communities depending on them.

The 9th Annual CASM Conference

Mozambique — September 8–14, 2009

After Mongolia in 2007 and Brazil in 2008, the 9th Annual CASM is back this year to Africa.

The Ministry of Mineral Resources of Mozambique has generously offered to host and sponsor this year conference from September 8 to 14, 2009.

Who should attend?

- ▶ The CASM conferences provide an unparalleled opportunity for people interested in or dealing with ASM from governments, civil society, industry – large and artisanal miners alike — development agencies, academics, non-governmental and community-based organizations, business associations and media, to meet, discuss, and share experiences from many different horizons and perspectives.

Why?

The Annual CASM Conference is the internationally celebrated world event on artisanal mining at which you will:

- ▶ Learn from past and present experiences and get up to date about present and future initiatives on a broad, worldwide spectrum of topics from more than 50 participating countries;
- ▶ Share your work experience and learn from others;
- ▶ Express and make your opinions known about ASM policies and programs in your own country or globally;
- ▶ Develop your network in an eclectic and open environment – the ACCs friendly atmosphere is a trade mark! – and discover new or better ways to work with ASM.

More particularly, you should participate in the Mozambique 9th ACC because you would, among many other reasons:

- ▶ Better understand how to integrate ASM into rural community development programs and, with examples from Mozambique, Africa, and other parts of the world;
- ▶ Find out or share information on the vulnerability of ASM to some of today's global or regional crises: conflicts, commodity prices, financial, climate change and others;
- ▶ Learn how and under which conditions good business practices can help large-scale and artisanal miners to work together or to find win-win solutions;
- ▶ Benefit from the lessons learned through the implementation of fair trade and certification initiatives;
- ▶ Meet and discuss with the Mozambican artisanal and small-scale miners on their sites and share their hopes and issues;
- ▶ .. and you do not want to miss the 2009 CASM Africa Day and meet representatives from artisanal miners, industry, women associations and governments from many African countries!

What is the Registration Fee?

The registration fee is 50 USD due upon arrival at the conference.

The Conference Structure

This year, the conference will take place in two different cities — Maputo from September 8–10 and Chimoio from September 12–14:

► In Maputo, at the Joaquim Chissano Conference Center, the conference will focus on the global issues – such as the vulnerability of ASM to commodity prices and the financial crises, to conflicts or climate change – and on international or regional initiatives and experiences – for example fair trade and certification schemes, the treaty on reduction of mercury pollution under preparation or good business practices in the often conflictive relationships between large-scale mines and ASM, or new trends regarding community development, financing of ASM and other themes. Regional and national presentations related to formalization of ASM and outreach experiences will allow the participants to compare lessons learned, with a particular focus on Mozambique (September 8) and on Africa (September 10) during the 2009 CASM Africa Day.

► The Chimoio agenda will let the participants to become familiar with on the ground experiences and the challenges faced by the artisanal miners and will provide the opportunity – through open space discussions and workshops, at the Milpak Hotel on September 12; and field trips around Chimoio on September 13 and 14 – of a closer understanding and On site involvement with ASM miners.

Main Themes and Agenda

ASM is characterized by ..diversity.

No wonder that it is practically impossible to include in a nutshell definition all the different types of minerals — from construction materials and coal to gold and gemstones — or socio-political environments — from peaceful and legal to part of armed conflicts and lawless or historical background — from traditional and absence of competition for resources to invasive and extreme conflict for minerals land — or geographical settings — from lowland jungles to high mountains — and so on. The series of themes included in the CASM conferences reflect such variety. Still, some basic principles will emerge, for example the critical importance of formalization and legalization of the activity, or organization of the miners in associations and need for management capacity building.

Then, a number of initiatives and tools, depending on the specific conditions at each site, will allow the artisanal and small-scale miners to mitigate hazards and improve their income — technical and environmental management, elimination of child labor, fair trade — and the surrounding communities would better benefit from the activity – community driven development, diversification . Also the need to reduce the vulnerability of ASM communities to external economic or political shocks or crises is critical.

The different sessions of the conference will include presentations on the basic principles — their implementation is never as easy as it sounds! — as well as around many of the present initiatives and experiences aiming at transforming ASM into a development opportunity. The main themes at the 2009 ACC will include:

- ▶ ASM and rural development: integration of ASM into local economic development, with examples from Mozambique and elsewhere in Africa or the world;
- ▶ Vulnerability of ASM to the external shocks: climate change, commodity prices volatility and financial crises, conflicts, for example in the DRC or Sierra Leone;
- ▶ “Small (mining) is beautiful”, with examples of success stories in Ecuador, Latin America and elsewhere;
- ▶ “Mining together”: good business approaches or why it is important for large-scale mining as part of their Corporate Social Responsibility policy to work together, under the right circumstances, with ASM towards local economic development;
- ▶ Mercury and ASM gold mining: the UNEP treaty under preparation to reduce Hg pollution implies a renewed effort to improve technologies accessible to artisanal mining;
- ▶ National, regional and international presentations on progresses regarding the ASM sector, with a particular focus on Africa, with many countries sharing their initiatives and experiences at the 2009 CASM Africa Day.
- ▶ CASM at a crossroad: as part of the preparation of the 2010 and 2011 United Nations Conference on Sustainable Development (UNCSD), CASM will facilitate the presentation of progresses made during the last decade and a preliminary draft paper will be discussed.

The complete agenda is still a “work in progress” and will be posted as soon as it is finalized.

Field visits

Field visits being offered in Chimoio (September 13-14) include artisanal and small-scale gold mines, artisanal and small-scale gemstones mines, a gold refinery, gold museum, and the Gorongosa park. The field visit being offered in Maputo is an agro-ecological sand mine (September 11). Please see more detailed information under Field Excursions.

FIELD EXCURSIONS

The following field excursions are proposed for the participants of the ACC 2009 in Mozambique:

Option (1A) - Munhena and Crispin Mine

When: September 13, 2009

10.00 - visit Munhena

11.30 – Visit Crispin Mine

13.00 – Visit the Gold Refinery and gold shops

14.30 - Lunch in Manica

16.00 – Return Chimoio

Munhena is located 85 km from Chimoio city and 15km from Manica Village. The ore is a fracture quartz vein in a steep slope of the mount Munhena. The miners are organized in an association that was formed in 2001. The association has 157 members. This association was financially and technically assisted by the Ministry through the World Bank-funded project. The Ministry established a communal processing plant for the association.

Recently the association celebrated a Joint Venture contract with a South African group (the Capital Investment), in a 25% for the Association and 75% for the company agreement. Presently the JV is carrying out experimental mining and planning a proper mine setting.

Gold panning and processing at Munhena site

Crispin is a private mining operation (Clean Mining) mining gold in banded iron formations and alluvium along the Revue River catchments. The mine operates a processing plant (crusher, mill, and sluice).

They produce between 500 and 1000 gr. of gold per month.

Option (1B)

Recently, efforts were made to form an association as a way to organize the miners here.

In the same geological environment a small scale- mine has opened recently in Catandica District.

The participants will have a unique opportunity to visit these two mine settings (an artisanal and a small-scale in Mozambican

Boas Vindas a Moçambique!

Welcome to Mozambique!

About Mozambique...

Geography

Mozambique is situated on the southeast coast of Africa. To the east is the Indian Ocean; Tanzania, Malawi, and Zambia are to the north; to the west is Zimbabwe and South Africa; and to the south, Swaziland and South Africa. The total area of Mozambique is 799,380 km<sup>2</sup>, with a coastline along the Indian Ocean of over 2515 kilometers.

Mozambique overall is relatively low and flat. The highest points are in the mountainous region located by the Zimbabwe border. There, Massururero on the slopes of Manica and Sofala is 2436 meters high, Picos Namuli has an altitude of 2419 meters, and Serra de Gorongosa is 2000 meters high.

History and Politics

Mozambique became independent from the Portuguese colonial regime on June 25, 1975 after 10 years of war. Samora Moises Machel assumed leadership and become the first President of the Republic of Mozambique. In the 1980s, civil war broke out between the government and RENAMO (National Resistance Party of Mozambique) and lasted for 15 years, until October 4, 1992 when both parties signed a peace accord. The first democratic elections took place in December 1994, at which time President Joaquim Alberto Chissano obtained victory. Mozambique today is a democratic country holding its own elections as foreseen in the Constitution. The current President is Armando Emílio Guebuza who took office in January 2005.

Culture

Due to its strategic position in the southern part of the African continent, and its easily accessible long coastline and its fertile land, Mozambique has been the home of various peoples and cultures, including Bantu from central Africa, Arabs, Indians, and Europeans. The Bantu are made up of a number of different groups with a common culture and similar dialects. The main ethnic groups include “Aianas”, “Macuas”, “Angones”, “Nhanjas”, “Tongas”, “Batongas” and “Muchopes,” who are found along the country in this same order, from north to south. Small numbers of Indians and Europeans are also to be found in various parts of the country.

At present, the population of Mozambique is estimated to be 20 million, 20% of which live in the main urban centers of Maputo, Beira and Nampula. Portuguese is the official language spoken throughout the country, with 13 other main national languages (Emakhuwa, Xitsonga, Ciyao, Cisena, Cishona, Echuwabo, Cinyanja, Xironga, Shimaconde, Cinyungue, Cichopi, Bitonga, and Kiswahili). English is taught in secondary school, and it’s reasonably easy to find English speakers in the main urban areas. In rural areas, many people do not speak Portuguese or English.
